DISCUSS FARM RELIEF PLANS WITH LEADER

Tall Corn Growing Still Taller As Farmers Frame Message.

By PAUL R. MALLON
U. P. Staff Correspondent
CEDAR RAPIDS, IOWA, Aug. 23.—A drizzling rain greeted Herbert Hoover's Iowa farm conference today but it did not dampen the ardor of the several hundred farm leaders gathered here with him to discuss his farm relief program.

The tall corn grew taller still as the farmer representatives of 15 states met in hotels to frame their message to be delivered to the Republican presidential candidate. They demanded no specific program for farm relief, such as Hoover set out in his west branch speech, nor were they interested in safeguarding generalities for their crops, they said.

But they proposed to establish with the nominee the theory that farm relief should be the first issue for disposal by the Hoover cabinet, should he be elected, and they indicated their confidence that Hoover will find the way for them.

"We know he will find the way," Senator Brookhart, independent Republican, said. "His record has established our confidence, rather than his speeches. I feel sure he will meet our situation with adequate action."

The nominee did not commit himself beyond his three-day program in his conference with the farmers. He promised a federal farm board with full powers to lend governmental advice and money to farmers. He amplified his suggestion for a costly development of inland waterways to promote cheaper prices of farm freight rates. He mentioned the necessity for revision of the tariff to protect the farmers' market.

There were grumblings in the farm conference about the vetoed McNary-Haugen bill. The Iowa group, for instance, was unable to select a delegation of ten to wait upon the nominee because the 150 members attending the meeting yesterday were unable to agree upon the selection of the delegation.

They disputed among themselves the question of whether they should declare themselves definitely for a set of delegates representing the equalization fee program farm relief. Finally, they all went to see Hoover at the home of Mrs. George Douglas, widow of the starch manufacturer, who invited Hoover to be the guest of her estate while here.

The final day of the three day series of farm conferences here and at West Branch got under way early when the representatives of Illinois, Ohio, Kentucky and Tennessee met to choose their delegates to meet Hoover.

Later delegations representing Missouri, Oklahoma, Nebraska, Kansas, North and South Dakota, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan were to meet for similar action.

CHILLICOTHE, O., Aug. 23.—The United States has gone into the poultry business and succeeded to the benefit of disabled war veterans at Veterans' hospital No. 97 in Chillicothe. Members of the Ohio Bankers' Association were told Wednesday by Dean Godden, farm superintendent, that chickens have netted $2593.43 profit since November.

"Three veterans operate the plant. They turn on lights at 4 a.m. in winter to increase egg production."

Hens have laid 120 eggs each this year and probably will average 165 before the close of the season, against the state average of 70.

The U. S. reformatory adjoins the veterans' hospital on the site of Camp Sherman. It is being rebuilt to accommodate 1200 instead of the 300 now in custody there under control of Stanley Borwick, U. S. marshal.

The shale for the 10 brick dormitories is being dug out of a hill on the reservation by prisoners and made into brick to be used in construction.

Few Ohioans know Ross-co has an apple orchard with 8000 trees that has produced 50,000 bushels of apples in one year.

The bankers were amazed to learn Belgium and South American countries buy hundreds of barrels of Ben Davis apples grown in this orchard every year. Two kinds of apples growing on the same tree interested the financiers: on one side of a tree might be succulent Roman beauties and on the other side Oriental apples called Astrakans.

The treat of the trip in Ross-co was a visit to Adena, the country home of George Hunter Smith and probably the loveliest colonial home in Ohio. Built in 1802 and occupied by Governor Thomas Worthington when he presided over the destinies of Ohio back in 1813, the home is fitted out with authentic colonial furnishings.

SLIGHT HOPE IS HELD FOR FLIERS IN SWEDEN PLANE

Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer Have Been Missing Now Since Sunday.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—But slight hope for the rescue of Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer, who have not been heard from since Sunday morning when their airplane, "Greater Rockford," was believed over Cape Chidley enroute from Ontario to Greenland, was held out today by officials directing the search.

The coast guard cutter, Marion, reported to headquarters last night that there was no chance for the airmen "if on the waters in this vicinity." The Marion was then 30 miles east of Resolution Island, in waters where it was considered most likely the plane was forced down.

The cutter reported she was in a strong southerly gale and planning to turn her course to the south in the Labrador current to continue the search.

Officials said there was a chance that Hassell and Cramer might have been forced off their course over Greenland and might make their way to civilization in time but that if they landed on water there was virtually no hope of rescue now.

OHIO HISTORY DAY MEETING SET FOR OCT. 7

Chief Buffalo Charles Long-lance, the Indian who spoke at the historical tree four years ago, will be the speaker of the day.

Mr. Longlance made quite a favorable impression when he was here before, and no doubt will attract quite a number of people here from all over the state on the date given.

The object of these meetings says the president, Mrs. Howard Jones, is "to stimulate in the people of Ohio, an interest in the early history of their state and to foster a love of truth, patriotism and progression."

The Ohio History Day Association was incorporated in 1926. The following organization was effected: President, Mrs. Howard Jones; Vice-President, John F. Carlisle, of Columbus; Secretary, Miss Agnes Butch; Treasurer, Mrs. G. G. Leist.

The directors are: Mrs. Howard Jones, John F. Carlisle, Miss Agnes R. Butch, Mrs. G. G. Leist, Mrs. A. J. Schoedinger, C. B. Galbreath, C. E. Groce, General Geo. Florence, Miss Elizabeth Ruggles, Dr. Howard Jones, John Wilson, Prof. M. C. Warren, C. C. Chappeler, J. W. Johnson and Geo. Baries.

High Spots In Smith's Speech

"I believe in temperance. We have not achieved temperance under the present system."

"I believe in reverence for law. Today disregard of the prohibition laws is insidiously sapping respect for all law."

"There is no question here of the return of the saloon. When I stated that the saloon 'is and ought to be a defunct institution in this country' I meant it. I mean it today. I will never advocate its return."

"Victory, simply for the sake of achieving it, is empty. I am entirely satisfied of our success in November because I am sure we are right and therefore sure that victory means progress for our nation."

"The Democratic party does not and under my leadership will not advocate any sudden or drastic revolution in our economic system which would cause business upheaval and popular distress."

"Any foreign policy must have its roots deeply in the approval of a very large majority of our people."

"If the buying power of agriculture is impaired, the farmer makes fewer trips to Main street."

"I am entirely satisfied of our success in November, because I am sure we are right and therefore sure that our victory means progress for our nation."

"While I stand squarely on our platform declaration that the laws which limit immigration must be preserved in full force and effect," he said, "I am heartily in favor of removing from the immigration law the harsh provision which separates families, and I am opposed to the principle of restriction based upon the figures of immigrant population contained in a census 38 years old."

Smith said he will not be influenced in his appointments "by the question of a person's wet or dry attitude, by whether he is rich or poor, whether he comes from the North, South, East or West, or by what church he attends in the worship of God."

"The sole standard of my appointments will be the same as they have been in my governorship—integrity of the man or woman and his or her ability to give me the greatest possible aid in devoted service to the people," he said.

"In this spirit, I enter upon the campaign."

WHILE LEADER PREPARES HIS BIG CAMPAIGN

Immediately After Giving Acceptance Speech; Crowd Thrilled.

By THOMAS L. STOKES
United Press Staff Correspondent
ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 23.—Gov. Alfred E. Smith turned his face definitely today toward the grueling campaign to the presidency, with his interpretation of the issues of the campaign before the people in a ringing address that brought high praise today from his political associates.

The address was delivered last night in the small assembly chamber of the capitol, where he began his political career 25 years ago. Rain prevented the mammoth celebration planned for the park before the capitol. Though only few were present to hear his speech, it was carried to the far corners of the country over the radio, and the nominee and his political advisers awaited today its reaction. They expect it to be pronounced.

Little more than 12 hours after the address, he will leave Albany early this afternoon for a trip that includes no political speeches but will afford him an opportunity to show himself to great throngs of voters, first in New Jersey, and later in his own state, both regarded as doubtful territory.

From that time on the democratic nominee will spend much of his time in campaign travelling. He and Mrs. Smith will stop in New York City tonight and part of tomorrow, going from there to Sea Girt, N. J., where the democratic nominee will attend a political rally and National Guard day or two in New York the first of next week, and then will go to Syracuse for the state fair, August 30. He has announced no plans beyond that time, but probably will make his first campaign address soon after Labor Day.

The man who once sold newspapers and fish on New York's east side was robbed of some of the glory of his triumphant hour by the elements. The rain, a steady, summer rain, that refused to stop, ruined the elaborate plans Albany had made for her biggest occasion—to honor her adopted son.

But it was peculiarly appropriate that he should accept the highest honor of his party in the gloomy legislative chamber where he proved in 11 years of service that he was destined for higher place. He stood where he often had stood as speaker of the assembly.

The rain, however, did not drive thousands away from the soaked capitol lawn. Their wet vigil was rewarded after the ceremonies inside by a personal visit from the governor. They saw him emerge from the east doorway, and sent up a loud cheer as he walked down the long stairway, with its sodden, bedraggled bunting, to the place where he would have stood had the weather been better. About 2,000 people had gathered long before the ceremony. The crowd had swelled to about 15,000 when the governor went out to thank them.

He stood before them smiling, wearing a raincoat and a straw-hat.

"There have been occasions in the past when I regretted the inadequacy of the assembly chamber, but never more forcefully than tonight," he said, and the crowd caught the joke.

He told them he appreciated their waiting.

"I have been watching this stand go up for the last two weeks," he said, "from the first foundations to the draping of the flags, and the placing of the silver horns. I was figuring to myself what a time I'll have Wednesday night, but I don't believe I could have stood it to speak in this damp air for an hour and twenty minutes."

"But you heard the speech anyhow. It must have been hard on you, but again I want to tell you how much I appreciate your response."

SMITH ADDRESS BRINGS PRAISE

DISCUSS FARM RELIEF PLANS WITH LEADER

Tall Corn Growing Still Tall-

Message.

By PAUL R. MALLON
U. P. Staff Correspondent

CEDAR RAPIDS, IOWA, Aug.
23.—A drizzling rain greeted Herbert Hoover's Iowa farm conference today but it did not dampen the ardor of the several hundred farm leaders gathered here with him to discuss his farm relief program.

The tall corn grew taller still as the farmer representatives of 15 states met in hotels to frame their message to be delivered to the Republican presidential candidate.
They demanded no specific program for farm relief, such as Hoover set out in his west branch speech, nor were they interested in safeguarding generalities for their crops, they said.

But they proposed to establish with the nominee the theory that farm relief should be the first issue for disposal by the Hoover cabinet, should he be elected, and they indicated their confidence that Hoover will find the way for them.

"We know he will find the way,"
Senator Brookhart, independent Republican, said. "His record has established our confidence, rather than his speeches. I feel sure he will meet our situation with adequate action."

The nominee did not commit himself beyond his three-day program in his conference with the farmers. He promised a federal farm board with full powers to lend governmental advice and not to interfere with the farmers. He accepted their suggestion for a costly development of inland waterways to promote cheaper prices of farm freight rates. He mentioned the necessity for revision of the tariff to protect the farmers' market.

There were grumblings in the farm conference about the vetoed McNary-Haugen bill. The Iowa group, for instance, was unable to select a delegation of ten to wait upon the nominee because the 150 members attending the meeting yesterday were unable to agree upon the selection of the delegation.

They disputed among themselves the question of whether they should declare themselves definitely for a set of delegates representing the equalization fee program farm relief. Finally, they all went to see Hoover at the home of Mrs. George Douglas, widow of the starch manufacturer, who invited Hoover to be the guest of her estate while here.

The final day of the three day series of farm conferences here and at West Branch got under way early when the representatives of Illinois, Ohio, Kentucky and Tennessee met to choose their delegates to meet Hoover.

Later delegations representing Missouri, Oklahoma, Nebraska,
Kansas, North and South Dakota, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan were to meet for similar action.

OHIO HISTORY DAY MEETING SET FOR OCT. 7

Chief Buffalo Charles Long-
lance, Well Known Indian,
To Speak Here Again

The third annual celebration of the Ohio History Day Association will be held at the Logan Elm Park, the first Sunday in October which falls on Sunday, Oct. 7.

Chief Buffalo Charles Long-lance, the Indian who spoke at the historical tree four years ago, will be the speaker of the day.
Mr. Longlance made quite a favorable impression when he was here before, and no doubt will attract quite a number of people here from all over the state on the date given.

The object of these meetings says the president, Mrs. Howard Jones, is "to stimulate in the people of Ohio, an interest in the early history of their state and to foster a love of truth, patriotism and progression."

The Ohio History Day Association was incorporated in 1926.
The following organization was elected: President, Mrs. Howard Jones; Vice-President, John F. Carlisle, of Columbus; Secretary, Miss Agnes Butch; Treasurer, Mrs. G. G. Leist.

The directors are, Mrs. Howard Jones, John F. Carlisle, Miss
Agnes Butch, Mrs. G. G. Leist,
Mrs. A. J. Schoedinger, C. B.
Galbreath, C. E. Groce, General
Geo. Florence, Miss Elizabeth
Ruggles, Dr. Howard Jones, John Wilson, Prof. M. C. Warren, C. C.
Chappelear, J. W. Johnson and Geo. Baries.

High Spots In Smith's Speech

"I believe in temperance. We have not achieved temperance under the present system."

"I believe in reverence for law.
Today disregard of the prohibition laws is insidiously sapping respect for all law."

"There is no question here of the return of the saloon. When I stated that the saloon 'is and ought to be a defunct institution in this country' I meant it. I mean it today. I will never advocate its return."

"Victory, simply for the sake of achieving it, is empty. I am entirely satisfied of our success in November because I am sure we are right and therefore sure that victory means progress for our nation."

"The Democratic party does not and under my leadership will not advocate any sudden or dramatic revolution in our economic system which would cause business upheaval and popular distress."

"Any foreign policy must have its roots deeply in the approval of a very large majority of our people."

"If the buying power of agriculture is impaired, the farmer makes fewer trips to Main street."

"I am entirely satisfied of our success in November because I am sure we are right and therefore sure that our victory means progress for our nation."

"While I stand squarely on our platform declaration that the laws which limit immigration must be preserved in full force and effect," he said, "I am heartily in favor of removing from the immigration law the harsh provision which separates families, and I am opposed to the principle of restriction based upon the figures of immigrant population contained in a census 38 years old.

Smith said he will not be influenced in his appointments "by the question of a person's wet or dry attitude, by whether he is rich or poor, whether he comes from the North, South, East or West, or by what church he attends in the worship of God."

"The sole standard of my appointments will be the same as they have been in my government—integrity of the man or woman and his or her ability to give me the greatest possible aid in devoted service to the people," he said.

"In this spirit, I enter upon the campaign."

WHILE LEADER PREPARES HIS BIG CAMPAIGN

Immediately After Giving Acceptance Speech; Crowd Thrilled.

By THOMAS L. STOKES
United Press Staff Correspondent

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 23—Gov.
Alfred E. Smith turned his face definitely today toward the grueling campaign for the presidency, with his interpretation of the issues of the campaign before the people in a ringing address that brought high praise today from his political associates.

The address was delivered last night in the small assembly chamber of the capitol, where he began his political career 25 years ago.
Rain prevented the mammoth celebration planned for the park before the capitol. Though only few were present to hear his speech, it was carried to the far corners of the country over the radio, and the nominee and his political advisers awaited today its reaction.
They expect it to be pronounced.

Little more than 12 hours after the address, he will leave Albany early this afternoon for a trip that includes no political speeches but will afford him an opportunity to show himself to great throngs of voters, first in New Jersey, and later in his own state, both regarded as doubtful territory.

From that time on the democratic nominee will spend much of his time in campaign travelling.
He and Mrs. Smith will stop in New York City tonight and part of tomorrow, going from there to Sea Girt, N. J., where the democratic nominee will attend a political rally and National Guard review. He probably will spend a day or two in New York the first of next week, and then will go to Syracuse for the state fair, August 30. He has announced no plans beyond that time, but probably will make his first campaign address soon after Labor Day.

The man who once sold newspapers and fish on New York's east side was robbed of some of the glory of his triumphant hour by the elements. The rain, a steady, summer rain, that refused to stop, ruined the elaborate plans Albany had made for her biggest occasion—to honor her adopted son.

But it was peculiarly appropriate that he should accept the highest honor of his party in the gloomy legislative chamber where he proved in 11 years of service that he was destined for higher place. He stood where he often had stood as speaker of the assembly.

The rain, however, did not drive thousands away from the soaked capitol lawn. Their wet vigil was rewarded after the ceremonies inside by a personal visit to the governor. They saw him emerge from the east doorway, and sent up a loud cheer as he walked down the long stairway, with its sudden, bedraggled bunting, to the place where he would have stood had the weather been better.

About 2,000 people had gathered long before the ceremony. The crowd had swelled to about 15,000 when the governor went out to thank them.

He stood before them smiling, wearing a raincoat and a straw-hat.

"There have been occasions in the past when I regretted the inadequacy of the assembly chamber, but never more forcefully than tonight," he said, and the crowd caught the joke.

He told them he appreciated their waiting.

"I have been watching this stand go up for the last two weeks," he said, "from the first foundations to the draping of the flags, and the placing of the silver horns. I was figuring to myself 'what a time I'll have Wednesday night,' but I don't believe I could have stood it for an hour and twenty minutes."

"But you heard the speech, anyhow. It must have been hard on you, but again I want to tell you how much I appreciate your resounded today."

Tunney, Retired Champ, To Visit Ireland

WILL ATTEND DUBLIN GAMES FOR FEW DAYS

And Then Will Visit In England, the Land of Defeated Tom Heenev.

By KENDALL FOSS
United Press Staff Correspondent.
LONDON, Aug. 23.—Gene Tunney, the retired heavyweight champion, started shortly after 9:30 a. m. today for a visit to the land of his forefathers, Ireland.
Tunney will attend the athletic games in Dublin and plans to remain in Ireland for two or three days, after which he will return to London for about two or three weeks visit.

It should be a triumphal procession for the retired heavyweight champion, just as was his arrival in London from Plymouth yesterday. Hundreds greeted him when he arrived and the press already has commented enthusiastically about the American boxer who only a month ago knocked out Tom Heenev, to end once again Great Britain's chances for a heavyweight champion.

Tunney has reiterated his desire to "sink into obscurity." All of the newspapermen were eager to know more about his romance with the pretty American heiress, Mary Josephine Lauder. At the Mauretania pier yesterday Tunney said he would be married in Paris. He would give no additional details.

After arriving in London he gave a general press interview and again the subject of his marriage came up.

"That's something I don't want to talk about," Gene said with a smile. "It is personal. Britons have been famous throughout the world for minding their own business. I hope they will do so."

He intimated at Plymouth, however, that Miss Lauder might be coming to Europe within a week.

So great has been Tunney's one day reception in England that already many have forecast that his visit will serve as another link in strengthening the cordiality between Great Britain and the United States. Coupled with the forthcoming visit of United States Secretary of State Kellogg and the recent visit of Americans to the Tailteann games in Dublin, many believed Tunney's visit forecasted even a more peaceful alliance.

Tunney seemed somewhat weary when he arrived at the Savoy Hotel last night and was ushered to the royal suite that had been engaged for him. But he seemed eager to grant interviews and permitted pictures to be taken, going immediately to the roof for this purpose.

He admitted he would enter business but has not selected the branch.

"I have other interests now," he said.

He likewise modestly admitted he would like to talk with George Bernard Shaw.

"It may sound sheer presumption for an ex-heavyweight champion to say he would like to meet one of the greatest dramatists of all time," Tunney said. "Possibly Mr. Shaw would not like to meet me. Therefore I do not propose to seek an interview but I should be an awfully honored man if an interview took place."

WOMEN'S TENNIS MEET ON AGAIN

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 23.—After a day's delay caused by rain, the forty-third annual National Women's Tennis championships were resumed at the West Side Tennis club here today.

Third round matches in the singles and second round matches in the doubles were scheduled today.

Yesterday's postponement will move the finals back to Monday. Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, diminutive California veteran, who won the championship in 1904, and Mrs. Hazel Hotchkiss Wightman, Boston, who won her first title in 1909 were paired for the feature match today.

Baseball

YESTERDAY'S HERO—George Haas, first baseman for the Philadelphia Athletics whose home run in the seventeenth inning gave the Athletics a 6 to 5 victory over Cleveland. The victory enabled the A's to gain a half game on the New York Yankees who did not play.

Detroit took both ends of a double bill from Boston by scores of 7 to 6 and 4 to 3. The Tigers led from the second inning of the first game without being headed, but were forced to come from behind in the eighth inning of the second game with two runs to win.

Hadley bested Walsh in a pitchers' duel and Washington defeated Chicago, 2 to 0. Hadley allowed the White Sox five hits over the entire route while Walsh yielded six hits before he was supplanted by a pinch hitter in the eighth.

St. Louis muffed another chance to pass the Giants in the National league race, dropping before Brooklyn 3 to 2. Brooklyn had their entire quota of runs before the Cardinals were able to score. Rabbit Maranville entertained by pulling the hidden ball trick effectively on DeBerry, Brooklyn catcher, in the seventh.

The New York Giants dropped their second straight to the Cincinnati Reds, 5 to 4. Melvin Ott drove in three runs with a triple in the fifth, but Zitzman duplicated in the last half of the inning for Cincinnati and the Reds added two more runs to clinch the game.

Chicago's Cubs, after dropping six straight to Philadelphia, finally turned the tables on the tallenders, 3 to 2, but it took them 12 innings to do it. Sand fumbled Heathcote's grounder in the 12th to let the winning run score.

Pittsburgh stopped Boston 10 to 3 in the last of their series. With the score tied at 3 each in the third, Pittsburgh scored two runs for a lead that never was threatened.

HUDSON Patents F-Head Motor

The U.S. Patent Office has granted patents to the Hudson Motor Car Company on the "F-Head" high-compression motor. The patent—No. 1,656,951, relating to internal combustion engines—covers the entire arrangement of valves, spark plugs and combustion chamber.

With the new patented design Hudson motors now are built with a compression ratio of nearly 6 to 1—or 20 per cent above the average—with correspondingly high standards of acceleration, fuel economy and power. It is practically impossible to make the motor knock under even the most adverse operating conditions. The motor is the liveliest, most powerful and economical Hudson has ever built.

Frigidaire Corporation, the world's largest makers of electric refrigerators

PRESENT

THE NEW FRIGIDAIRE

YOU DON'T HEAR IT START • • YOU DON'T HEAR IT STOP • •

YOU DON'T HEAR IT RUN

For twelve years the pioneer in automatic refrigeration...once again sets a new standard

INCREDIBLY quiet operation, greater cabinet beauty and convenience... surplus refrigerating power built into a new and radically improved compressor... this is the New Frigidaire.

Millions of dollars were spent to make possible the New Frigidaire. Sound-proof rooms were constructed for tests. Sound recording instruments were used, more delicate than the human ear. The result is an entirely new development in automatic refrigeration.

The New Frigidaire is incredibly quiet. You don't hear it start. You don't hear it stop. You don't hear it run. It meets every emergency, every demand, with the same smooth effortless performance, the same absolute reliability.

The New Frigidaire is the most beautiful refrigerator ever developed commercially. But more surprising even than its beauty, is the convenience of its details. You should see it for yourself... you should visualize it in your own kitchen... only then can you realize the advance which the New Frigidaire marks in convenient housekeeping.

Big special demonstration opens Thursday, August 23rd

The New Frigidaire is now on our showroom floor. We're giving a remarkable demonstration every day and every night this week. We're showing what the New Frigidaire will do under actual household conditions. We're showing just why it runs so quietly and so efficiently. We're showing how it insures absolutely safe refrigeration.

Come in and see the New Frigidaire in operation. For your convenience, we are open each night this week and next week until ten o'clock.

Low prices and easy terms

The Frigidaire Corporation believes that every household in America should have automatic refrigeration... for health... for convenience... for economy. The New Frigidaire carries new low prices and easy General Motors terms... prices and terms which make it possible for everyone to have the benefits of Frigidaire now. Come in this week and find out about them.

IRCLEVILLE MAN NAMED ON OHIO CHAMBER OF COMMERCE COMMITTEE

Thomas F. Jeffries Member of County, Local and School Branch.

Mr. Thomas F. Jeffries of Jeffries and Colville, of Circleville, has recently been appointed a member of one of the most important committees of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce. This committee is the "County, Local and School Government Committee."

The committee has had one meeting, at which Walter F. Kirk of Port Clinton, who is also president of the Ohio Tax Association, was chosen chairman. The machinery for the work to be done by this committee was set up at the first meeting. A number of other meetings will subsequently be held.

No one can tell what the ultimate recommendations of the committee will be, but the recommendations will be made to the Board of Directors of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce. The action taken by the board will finally

GREAT FAITH IN THE NEW KONJOLA MEDICINE SHOWN

By Prominent Circleville People Among the First to Call At the Mykrantz Pharmacy

From every section of Circleville and many nearby towns, there came a vast number of people to find out about this new medical compound. It is appalling to note the great majority of modern people who are suffering from different forms of stomach, liver, kidney and bowel disorders. Several prominent well known citizens were among the first to purchase this medicine.

Konjola is being sold in large quantities at the Mykrantz Pharmacy, Circleville, where large crowds are calling to purchase this medicine or ask for information and advice.

Konjola takes a different form of action on the human system than any previously known remedy.

It is a liquid, taken immediately after meals, which works in the sufferers own food. It cleans the medical ingredients of twenty-two Natural plants.

These have the best possible effect on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels that your food works with.

It is restoring a more healthy, normal action to these important organs. After all, it is Nature really does the work, and Konjola simply brings the help Nature requires.

This is the surest and best way to cure the ailments so many people are suffering, for example: sharp pains over the kidneys, a achy feeling across the back, swollen limbs, frequent night ris-ziness, spots before the liver trouble, including biliousness, sick headaches, yellow complexion and constipation.

Heart palpitation, feeling like a lump in the throat to the pit of the stomach, intense pains and a burning like a rock in the stomach, sour acid risings in the stomach, cramps, etc.

Many other forms of suffering gently arise from the disordered condition of the stomach, kidneys and bowels. Rheumatism and neuritis is common.

It often develops, which is one of the most stubborn diseases and is heir to, with the ringing roaring in the ears, dizziness, and a general wastage of flesh and energy.

Any ailment must be conquered by the system within.

The new Konjola comes to Circleville for the first time direct from the manufacturer.

Appearance in one large quantity, recently brought so restoration to health that public statements of endorsement were issued in praise of the remarkable remedy.

Many public officials, nurses, ministers and people in all walks of life are now being sold in large quantities at the Mykrantz Pharmacy where many people are calling out about this surprising medicine.—Adv.

ly constitute the policy of the Chamber.

The reason for setting up this committee is that practically no changes making for modern efficiency have occurred in the county government set-up in more than 100 years. County government is often referred to as the "Dark Continent" of American government.

There are also those who believe that township government has outlived its usefulness, and that it may be desirable to abolish township lines and have a more efficient county government administer the affairs now looked after by the township units.

School government will also come in for consideration and thorough investigation by the committee. It is found that there are slightly in excess of 200 school districts in the state which have a one-room school building and one teacher to supervise. Despite this fact, a Board of Education, of five members and a clerk is set up to administer the affairs of this one teacher and one room.

Preliminary investigation by the committee also shows that there are many administrative affairs in the county which require change. For instance, it is impossible to pay taxes under present arrangement except at certain periods of the year. Settlement of many estates is delayed because of this situation. Utility and other business corporations send out bills which can be paid then or at any subsequent time, but not so with taxes. There is considerable duplication of effort, it is found by the committee, in the offices of the county treasurer and county auditor. There is also much duplication of work as between the county auditor and county recorder. Fee system applying in the operation of the county building commission; lack of control by the county commissioners over increased salaries for deputies; and many other administrative affairs will be given attention by this investigating committee.

It is thoroughly appreciated that the problems of counties of one size may not apply to another group. For that reason, the general committee is being broken up into four sub-committees, one representing counties of the greatest population, such as Hamilton and Cuyahoga; another group with cities in them of populations ranging from 100,000 to 400,000; a third group with cities in them having populations from 8,000 to 100,000; and, fourth, the distinctly rural counties.

The recommendations of the four sub-committees will first be considered by a "clearing committee," which will be composed of the chairmen of the four sub-committees in addition to such authorities as Leyton E. Carter of the Cleveland Foundation; R. E. Miles, director of the Ohio Institute; and Murray D. Lincoln, executive secretary of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation.

The chairmen of the four sub-committees are: Mr. Carl Knirk of Cleveland; Warren F. Perry, Youngstown; C. M. Rodefer, Delaware; and John S. Edwards, Columbus. A "suggested topical outline" of study has been prepared for the committee's action.

This clearing committee will interpret the recommendations of the sub-committees and classify them along the following lines:

1—Whether the recommendations require only a change of administrative policy.

2—Whether they will require legislative enactment to make them effective.

3—Whether they will require constitutional amendment to make them operative.

The matters requiring legislative consideration will, of course, be presented to the 38th General Assembly, meeting in Columbus next winter. It is expected that a constitutional convention will be held in 1932.

maining in this rain."

The crowd inside was small, but its welcome was warm.

When the nominee first appeared, the chamber shook with the noise of welcome. He sat down. The crowd would not have it. He got up again, and stood before them. The band struck up "The Side-walks of New York." This accentuated the noisy reception.

Then the governor tried one of his stage tricks. He held up his hand, quieting them, as if to speak. Then he turned about, and sat down.

The crowd vented its enthusiasm again when he was presented by Senator Key Pittman, of Nevada, after the notification, address, and every few minutes punctuated his address with shouts and cheers, so that he did not finish until after the scheduled time.

The crowd cheered his speech throughout, but particularly his remarks on prohibition, farm relief and water power, which he made the three dominant issues of the campaign by their treatment in his message.

The most vociferous and prolonged single burst of applause came when Smith declared that he would not be influenced in his appointments by what church a man attended. It was a similar reference by Senator Pittman that brought the first outburst after the nominee appeared, the Nevada senator's declaration that democracy would find in Smith "a man who loved his country and his God."

The chamber was not decorated for the occasion. The decision to use it, instead of holding the outside ceremony, was not made until an hour beforehand. When it appeared earlier in the afternoon the rain might not stop, a corps of workmen got busy, moved out the desks, one of which Smith once used, and rushed in all varieties of tables for the newspaper reporters. These took up about half of the chamber.

A thin ring of chairs were moved in back of this area. Behind them hundreds stood all through the exercises. The balconies were packed, and as Smith rose to deliver his speech, one young lady leaned over the balustrade over his head and shouted:

"Hurray for the next president."

Several cried as he began.

The corridors outside were jammed. Some livelier spirits tried to "crash the gate," but strong-armed state troopers quickly put an end to this.

Photographers, who had a special stand in front of the capitol, had to take "pot luck" inside. Several perched along the narrow runway between the balconies. Others took up places in all parts of the chamber, but their spotlight shots were cut short by Col. Ed. Halsey, in charge of arrangements, who said the room would be filled with smoke.

Mrs. Smith appeared several minutes before the nominee, who was late, and was cheered enthusiastically when she took her seat on the dais before the speaker's chair, with her elder daughter, Mrs. John A. Warner, her daughter, Mrs. Francis Quillinan, and her husband, her son, Arthur, Senator Robinson of Arkansas, vice presidential candidate, and Gov. Ritchie of Maryland.

Puzzle: Find the Procession in Today's Traffic

WHEN McKinley was President, three rigs in a row were considered a procession. Now, travel is such that a two-mile procession cannot be distinguished from ordinary traffic. Funeral directors suggest that the cars forming a cortege burn their lights as a means of identifying their mission.

Unharmd by this traffic increase, brick surfaced streets built in the 1880's and 1890's are still giving good service.

When it appeared earlier in the afternoon the rain might not stop, a corps of workmen got busy, moved out the desks, one of which Smith once used, and rushed in all varieties of tables for the newspaper reporters. These took up about half of the chamber.

A thin ring of chairs were moved in back of this area. Behind them hundreds stood all through the exercises. The balconies were packed, and as Smith rose to deliver his speech, one young lady leaned over the balustrade over his head and shouted:

"Hurray for the next president," several cried as he began.

The corridors outside were jammed. Some livelier spirits tried to "crash the gate," but strong-armed state troopers quickly put an end to this.

Photographers, who had a special stand in front of the capitol, had to take "pot luck" inside. Several perched along the narrow runway between the balconies. Others took up places in all parts of the chamber, but their spotlight shots were cut short by Col. Ed. Halsey, in charge of arrangements, who said the room would be filled with smoke.

Mrs. Smith appeared several minutes before the nominee, who was late, and was cheered enthusiastically when she took her seat on the dais before the speaker's chair, with her elder daughter, Mrs. John A. Warner, her daughter, Mrs. Francis Quillinan, and her husband, her son, Arthur, Senator Robinson of Arkansas, vice presidential candidate, and Gov. Ritchie of Maryland.

THEATRES

"THE RACKET"

Thomas Meighan returned last night in the leading role of "The Racket," a story of the modern underworld treated in so different a manner, that it will always be remembered and classified as outstanding from any picture made along similar lines. The story is merited for its strong stirring plot, entirely different from anything seen before.

"GOOD TIME CHARLIE"

Warner Oland and Helene Costello, star in the picture by the above title at the Grand tonight. It's the haunting heart story of an old time actor—his dancing daughter—his enemy—his pal—and a world of other folks! You'll want to see it.

GREAT FAITH IN THE NEW KONJOLA MEDICINE SHOWN

My Prominent Circleville People Among the First to Call At the Mykrantz Pharmacy

From every section of Circleville and many nearby towns, there came a vast number of people to find out about this new Konjola medical compound. It is appalling to note the great major-of modern people who are suffering from different forms of stomach, liver, kidney and bowel disorders. Several prominent well known citizens were among the first to purchase this medicine.

G. H. MOSBY Discoverer of Konjola.

Konjola is being sold in large quantities at the Mykrantz Pharmacy, Circleville, where large crowds are calling to purchase this medicine or ask for information and advice.

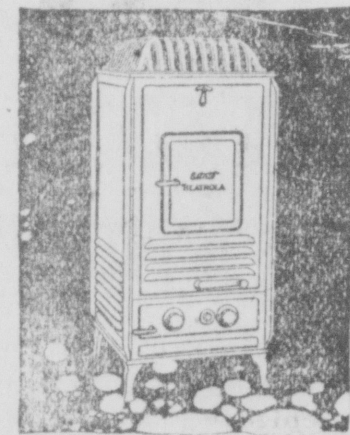

Konjola takes a different form action on the human system than any previously known remedy. It is a liquid, taken immediately after meals, which works in the sufferer's own food. It contains the medical ingredients twenty-two Natural plants. These have the best possible effect on the stomach, liver, kidneys and intestines, restoring a more healthy, natural action to these important organs. After all, it is Nature really does the work, and Konjola simply brings the help Nature requires. This is the surest and best way to cure the ailments so many people are suffering, for example: sharp pains over the kidneys, a lacy feeling across the back, stiff limbs, frequent night risings, dizziness, spots before the eyes, liver trouble, including biliousness, sick headaches, yellow complexion and constipation, heart palpitation, feeling like a lump in the throat to the pit of the stomach, intense pains and a feeling like a rock in the stomach, sour acid risings in the stomach, cramps, etc.

Many other forms of suffering recently arise from the disordered condition of the stomach, kidneys and bowels. Rheumatism and neuritis is common. It often develops, which is one of the most stubborn diseases and is heir to, with the ringing and roaring in the ears, clogged nostrils and a general wastage of flesh and energy. The ailment must be conquered in the system within.

The new Konjola comes to Circleville for the first time direct from the factory in large quantities. Appearance in one large quantity, recently brought so many restorations to health that public statements of indorsement were issued in praise of the remarkable remedy, many public officials, nurses, ministers and people in all walks of life are now being sold in large quantities at the Mykrantz Pharmacy where many people are calling out about this surprising medicine.—Adv.

Puzzle: Find the Procession in Today's Traffic

WHEN McKinley was President, three rigs in a row were considered a procession. Now, travel is such that a two-mile procession cannot be distinguished from ordinary traffic. Funeral directors suggest that the cars forming a cortege burn their lights as a means of identifying their mission.

Unharmful by this traffic increase, brick surfaced streets built in the 1880's and 1890's are still giving good service.

Time has been the testing laboratory for brick surfaced streets and roads. They have received their master's degree from the "University of Hard Knocks." Undamaged by 500-fold traffic increases, they still show lowest maintenance costs.

Tunney, Retired Champ, To Visit Ireland

WILL ATTEND DUBLIN GAMES FOR FEW DAYS

And Then Will Visit In England, the Land of Defeated Tom Heenev.

By KEND ALL FOSS
United Press Staff Correspondent.
LONDON, Aug. 23.—Gene Tunney, the retired heavyweight champion, started shortly after 9:30 a. m. today for a visit to the land of his forefathers, Ireland.

Tunney will attend the athletic games in Dublin and plans to remain in Ireland for two or three days, after which he will return to London for about two or three weeks visit.

It should be a triumphal procession for the retired heavyweight champion, just as was his arrival in London from Plymouth yesterday. Hundreds greeted him when he arrived and the press already has commented enthusiastically about the American boxer who only a month ago knocked out Tom Heenev, to end once again Great Britain's chances for a heavyweight champion.

Tunney has reiterated his desire to "sink into obscurity." All of the newspapermen were eager to know more about his romance with the pretty American heiress, Mary Josephine Lauder. At the Mauretania pier yesterday Tunney said he would be married in Paris. He would give no additional details.

After arriving in London he gave a general press interview and again the subject of his marriage came up.

"That's something I don't want to talk about," Gene said with a smile. "It is personal. Britons have been famous throughout the world for minding their own business. I hope they will do so."

He intimated at Plymouth, however, that Miss Lauder might be coming to Europe within a week.

So great has been Tunney's one day reception in England that already many have forecast that his visit will serve as another link in strengthening the cordiality between Great Britain and the United States. Coupled with the forthcoming visit of United States Secretary of State Kellogg and the recent visit of Americans to the Tailteann games in Dublin, many believed Tunney's visit forecasted even a more peaceful alliance.

Tunney seemed somewhat weary when he arrived at the Savoy Hotel last night and was ushered to the royal suite that had been engaged for him. But he seemed eager to grant interviews and permitted pictures to be taken, going immediately to the roof for this purpose.

He admitted he would enter business but has not selected the branch.

"I have other interests now," he said.

He likewise modestly admitted he would like to talk with George Bernard Shaw.

"It may sound sheer presumption for an ex-heavyweight champion to say he would like to meet one of the greatest dramatists of all time," Tunney said. "Possibly Mr. Shaw would not like to meet me. Therefore I do not propose to seek an interview, but I should be an awfully honored man if an interview took place."

WOMEN'S TENNIS MEET ON AGAIN

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 23.—After a day's delay caused by rain, the forty-third annual National Women's Tennis championships were resumed at the West Side Tennis club here today.

Third round matches in the singles and second round matches in the doubles were scheduled today.

Yesterday's postponement will move the finals back to Monday. Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, diminutive California veteran, who won the championship in 1904, and Mrs. Hazel Hotchkiss Wightman, Boston, who won her first title in 1909 were paired for the feature match today.

Baseball

YESTERDAY'S HERO—George Haas, first baseman for the Philadelphia Athletics, whose home run in the seventeenth inning gave the Athletics a 6 to 5 victory over Cleveland. The victory enabled the A's to gain a half game on the New York Yankees who did not play.

Detroit took both ends of a double bill from Boston by scores of 7 to 6 and 4 to 3. The Tigers led from the second inning of the first game without being headed, but were forced to come from behind in the eighth inning of the second game with two runs to win.

Hadley bested Walsh in a pitchers' duel and Washington defeated Chicago, 2 to 0. Hadley allowed the White Sox five hits over the entire route while Walsh yielded six hits before he was supplanted by a pinch hitter in the eighth.

St. Louis muffed another chance to pass the Giants in the National league race, dropping before Brooklyn, 3 to 2. Brooklyn had their entire quota of runs before the Cardinals were able to score. Rabbit Maranville entertained by pulling the hidden ball trick effectively on DeBerry, Brooklyn catcher, in the seventh.

The New York Giants dropped their second straight to the Cincinnati Reds, 5 to 4. Melvin Ott drove in three runs with a triple in the fifth, but Zitzman duplicated in the last half of the inning for Cincinnati and the Reds added two more runs to clinch the game.

Chicago's Cubs, after dropping six straight to Philadelphia, finally turned the tables on the tailenders, 3 to 2, but it took them 12 innings to do it. Sand fumbled Heathcote's grounder in the 12th to let the winning run score.

Pittsburgh stopped Boston 10 to 3 in the last of their series. With the score tied at 3 each in the third, Pittsburgh scored two runs for a lead that never was threatened.

HUDSON Patents F-Head Motor

The U.S. Patent Office has granted patents to the Hudson Motor Car Company on the "F-Head" high-compression motor. The patent—No. 1,656,051, relating to internal combustion engines—covers the entire arrangement of valves, spark plugs and combustion chamber.

With the new patented design Hudson motors now are built with a compression ratio of nearly 6 to 1—or 20 per cent above the average—with correspondingly high standards of acceleration, fuel economy and power. It is practically impossible to make the motor knock under even the most adverse operating conditions. The motor is the liveliest, most powerful and economical Hudson has ever built.

THE NEW FRIGIDAIRE

YOU DON'T HEAR IT START • • YOU DON'T HEAR IT STOP • •

YOU DON'T HEAR IT RUN

For twelve years the pioneer in automatic refrigeration...once again sets a new standard

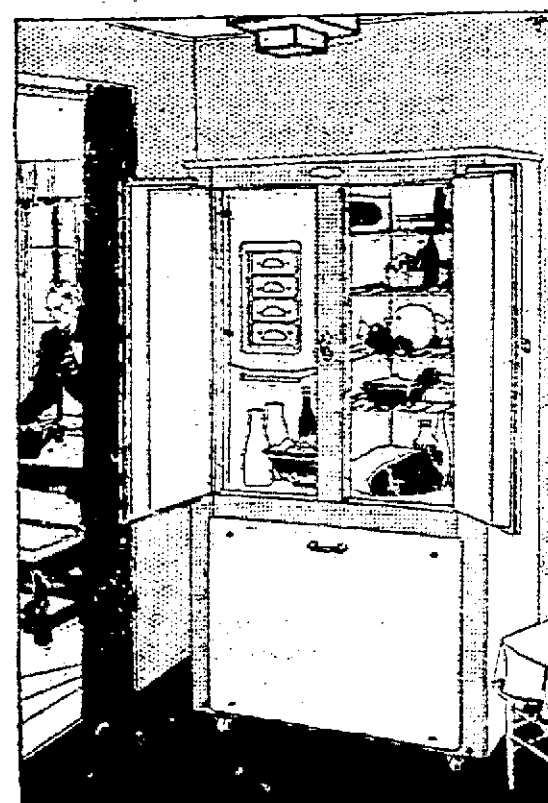

INCREDIBLY quiet operation, greater cabinet beauty and convenience... surplus refrigerating power built into a new and radically improved compressor... this is the New Frigidaire.

Millions of dollars were spent to make possible the New Frigidaire. Sound-proof rooms were constructed for tests. Sound recording instruments were used, more delicate than the human ear. The result is an entirely new development in automatic refrigeration.

The New Frigidaire is incredibly quiet. You don't hear it start. You don't hear it stop. You don't hear it run. It meets every emergency, every demand, with the same smooth effortless performance, the same absolute reliability.

The New Frigidaire is the most beautiful refrigerator ever developed commercially. But more surprising even than its beauty, is the convenience of its details. You should see it for yourself... you should visualize it in your own kitchen... only then can you realize the advance which the New Frigidaire marks in convenient housekeeping.

Big special demonstration opens Thursday, August 23rd
The New Frigidaire is now on our showroom floor. We're giving a remarkable demonstration every day and every night this week. We're showing what the New Frigidaire will do under actual household conditions. We're showing just why it runs so quietly and so efficiently. We're showing how it insures absolutely safe refrigeration.

Come in and see the New Frigidaire in operation. For your convenience, we are open each night this week and next week until ten o'clock.

Low prices and easy terms

The Frigidaire Corporation believes that every household in America should have automatic refrigeration... for health... for convenience... for economy. The New Frigidaire carries new low prices and easy General Motors terms... prices and terms which make it possible for everyone to have the benefits of Frigidaire now. Come in this week and find out about them.

BIBLE THOUGHT

THE WISE MAN'S EYES — Then I saw that wisdom excelleth folly, as far as light excelleth darkness.

The wise man's eyes are in his head; but the fool walketh in darkness.—Ecc. 2:13 and 14.

PRAYER—Lord, keep us from having the evil eye, the light of which is darkness.

IGNORANCE ABROAD
You may not have realized it, what with the presidential campaign and all, but the great American male is really desperately unhappy.

An English woman, writing in a London paper and quoted in a recent Literary Digest, sets forth that the American man, in fact, is even "fighting his life." His wife, she admits, has a pretty good time; but American men lag far behind their women. Hear what she says:

"He (the American man) lives in a world separate from theirs. All the excitement and romance of life for him is concentrated in his office. He goes home in the evening, exhausted, to find his wife, fresh as a daisy, starting out for the night. If she insists on his going with her, and she does insist he can only do so after a couple of cocktails or three or four. So that what he sees of the world of women he sees in a daze of weariness and alcohol.

"The tragedy of such American men is that they are never allowed to go to bed. They are the slaves of wives who are utterly bored with their company yet will not dispense with it."

This great weariness of American men at evening undoubtedly explains why the largest American cities, where there are the most business men and where the pace is the most furious, offer the most numerous and varied forms of diversion in the evening. The tired business man, it is well known, is a great patron of the theater; and he seldom is dragged there by his wife, any more than he is dragged to his golf club by her, or to the conventions which he loves so dearly.

As a matter of fact, the only significant thing about the article quoted above is the revelation which it provides about the average English view of us. We are told that America is self-centered and ignorant of the ways of other people; yet no intelligent American ever was quite as misinformed about the English as this lady-writer is misinformed about the Americans. She paints a very pathetic picture, but no American would ever recognize it. It simply is not true.

Think over the people you know. Are the men tired out every evening? Are the women always fresh as a daisy? After spending a day caring for a house and three of four children? Are husbands and wives mutually bored to the point of extinction?

Of course not. Like some other foreign commentators on American life, this lady just doesn't know what she's talking about. That great Anglo-American understanding we're all looking for so earnestly will never come until some of England's publicists take the trouble to find out what we're really like.

AUTO THEFT;
PETTY LARCENY
Just how common are automobiles anyway?

Well, in New York the other day a man stole one. He was arrested and brought to court—on a charge of petty larceny! The car, a 1921 model was not worth more than $25; consequently its theft could not be counted as a felony.

This is rather startling, when you stop to think about it. An automobile's chief function is to take people from one place to another; and the car the New Yorker stole would do that, for all its wheezing and rattling. It undoubtedly can travel several thousand miles yet. Thirty years ago that car, in its present condition, would have cost thousands of dollars. Today it is small change—ready for the junk heap, despite the fact that it can still render good service.

Better than anything else, that little incident illustrates the amazing cheapness and commonness of the automobile.

A POEM FOR TODAY

By NORMAN W. RALSTON

THE TOWN OF SMILES

There's a wonderful place in a wonderful town

Where the people all smile, never frown,

With hardly a care but only to share

Or to trade just a laugh for a crown.

This little town stands aside by a sea—

It was built just especially for me—

And some say it's their, but who gives a care;

This wee, tiny town by the sea.

It's a standard of living the people have set,

And everyone there that I've met

Have always a smile, at least for awhile—

I haven't seen one frown there yet.

Some call it the Town of Smiles, but for me

A more beautiful name it should be—

No frowns there are given, a Suburb of Heaven

I'd call it—between you and me!

LETTERS TO EDITOR

THINK THIS OVER.

Dear Editor:—

I was in Columbus a few days ago and I met several auto enthusiasts. They were loud in their praises of Circleville—but they all said that tourists complain about hotel accommodations—saying, "Why don't some hotel instal bath rooms with at least 20 rooms—let it be known that the price for a room and private bath would be $2.00 single and $3.00 double." Most tourists prefer stopping over night in a small town. But there was one thing complained of, viz: the dusty roads that must be driven over to get to Circleville. "The Circleville Herald" should set up a howl about the poor roads we are getting for the gas tax we are paying. One of our enterprising citizens is investing $100,000 in a beautiful movie theatre and will supply first-class pictures. There is no reason why this will not draw people for 15 miles around. But oh, the roads. Then look at our merchants. We have fine stores of all kinds. Give us good roads and concrete streets and see what happens.

Yours for Circleville,

BOB WHITE.

welcomed to Chillicothe at a dinner at the Warner house by E. L. Spetnagel of the Central National Bank.

Interviews with dirt farmers in Pickaway and Ross counties show they are more interested in county elections than in the presidential race. Pickaway-co normally is about 1200 to 1800 democratic and Ross is Republican by the same margin.

Democratic farmers for the most part have little enthusiasm for Al Smith in Pickaway-co. A democratic legislator said Smith would lose hundreds of votes but most of those talked to thought Herbert Hoover and Smith would get a 50-50 break in Pickaway-co.

Ross-co should be 1000 or 2000 for Hoover with Chillicothe giving Smith a majority which will be turned into a Hoover majority when the rural returns come in. An independent women's movement has been started for Hoover in Chillicothe.

GRAIN REVIEW

CHICAGO, Aug. 23—Wheat held most of its early advance on the board of trade today despite selling pressure from locals and northwestern houses. Corn weakened under favorable weather reports. Oats showed moderate strength.

Late in the day wheat was 3-8 to 3-4 cents higher, corn was down 3-8 cents and oats was up 1-4 to 1-2 cent. Provision were about unchanged.

Wheat opened sharply higher on strong Liverpool cables and reports of frost in Canada where temperatures dropped as low as 28 degrees. The bulge, however, brought selling, and pressure continued through most of the session. Local traders believed that the Canadian frost might impair the quality of wheat but that it would not cut down the yield. Receipts were 101 cars with the cash market unchanged to 1-2 cent higher.

Corn followed wheat for the most part. Locals sold after the opening bulge and prices reacted. Crop reports continue optimistic. Cash corn was 1 cent higher. Arrivals were 58 cars.

Oats showed signs of strength early in the session. Moderate buying was reported. Receipts were 104 cars with the cash market unchanged.

WILLIAMSPORT

Miss Caroline Bochar, who has been visiting in Cleveland for several days, returned home this week.

The August meeting of the Sorosis club was held on Monday evening at the home of Miss Wanda McNeal. Following the usual opening service Miss Mary Kathryn Baker and Miss Eleanor Luelin each played a pleasing piano solo. Several clever contests were held. Delicious refreshments of ice, lady fingers and iced tea were served. The ice was served in a unique style, vari-colored paper cups being used. Miss Fern Ater was assisting hostess. Several club members were present; also there were a few guests. The September meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Royal V. Hamman.

Mr. H. G. Stevenson of Circleville, was a Williamsport visitor on Tuesday.

Miss Esther Newhouse of Weston, W. Va., is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Royal V. Hamman.

Mr. C. A. Hancock of Washington C. H., was a visitor here on Monday.

Miss Mary A. Radcliff who has been in the east, has returned home.

A number of Williamsport people attended the fish fry at Hebbron on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gephart, of St. Louis, Mo., are guests of relatives here. Mr. and Mrs. Gephart recently returned from a trip through the west. Their son, William, has visited here for a few weeks.

Miss Lemay of Commercial Point was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Lemay on Monday.

A very enjoyable summer occasion was the meeting of the card club, held at the home of Mrs. Edward H. Wardell, on Tuesday evening. The rooms were beautifully decorated with the season's flowers. There were six tables of progressive players, also a number of guests. At a late hour, delightful refreshments of ice cream, cake, punch and mints were served. Beautiful flowers in bud vases ornamented the tables. Following the serving, the party was entertained by vocal and instrumental numbers by Miss Dorothy Wardell, daughter of the hostess, and by violin numbers by Miss Margaret Adkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Adkins of Atlanta.

A party of Williamsport folks picnicked at Lithopolis and attended a concert there on Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Webster Hill announce the birth of a daughter, Miss Laura McGhee, will leave next week for Cleveland where she is employed as a teacher in the school.

Dr. and Mrs. O. W. House have returned home after spending a few days in Huntington, W. Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dent arrived home Tuesday, having spent a part of the summer with relatives.

SPORTSMATTER
BY FRANK GETTY

He was in his hey-day when Nelson, Wolgast, Ritchie and Welsh were fighting. Today he should be fat and forty, but he is neither. He is lithe, slim and 43.

Jack Britton, former welterweight champion of the world, has planted the hardest blow on Father Time's jaw that the old man ever felt.

Five thousand fight customers got the thrills of their lives the other night when Britton slipped into the ring to face Tony Vaccarelli, a 25-year-old youngster with a world of speed and a punch that is nothing to sneer at. There were lumps in 5,000 throats as the old master stamped in the resins and limbered up his arms for the fight that was either going to send him over the hill to the poor house or put him back on the high road to riches.

Britton scored a brilliant victory and a mighty roar went up through the crowd as they realized that Jack again had his foot on the ladder of fame which he scaled so brilliantly two decades ago. Despite a line of fat around his belt, Britton stepped out and set the pace through the fight with Vaccarelli to win six of the ten rounds and the decision.

A Great Comeback.

Perhaps it was the most thrilling comeback in the world of sport since the day Jim Jeffries vainly tried to beat off the attack of Jack Johnson and went down to the canvas, a greater fighter in defeat than he had ever been in victory.

You may pore over the dope sheets and confidently utter the old maxims: "They never come back" and "Youth must be served." But just when you think you are 100 per cent right, along will come a grizzled old man like Jack Britton to knock the calculations of mathematics sky high.

Britton is asking and giving no quarter because he is 43 years old. He steps to the center of the ring with his aged legs twitching with the desire to fly into action. For 25 years he has been taking punishment in the face and in the body and has refused to wilt. For the name Britton has long been a by-word for courage in the ring.

Clean living has helped him in his come-back. Long before Gene Tunney was ever heard of, Britton had turned his back on the bright lights and the foaming mug and had decided that if he was going to be a world's champion he might as well sign Mother Nature up as one of his allies. She has stayed with him nobly.

He Met Them All.

Britton has met them all—good and bad, hard hitters and set-ups—and although he has been outpointed at times he has come plugging back for more. Leo Houck, Harry Stone, Ray Bronson, Packey McFarland, Willie Ritchie, Willie Beecher, Leach Cross, Young Ahearn, Eddie Hanlon, Charley White, Matty Baldwin, Phil Bloom, Soldier Bartfield, Johnny Griffiths, Mike O'Dowd, Joe Weiling, Bryan Downey and Harvey Thorpe have faced him in the ring and can testify what a fighter he is.

Eleven years ago Britton did battle with Benny Leonard. Maybe you don't recognize many names in the partial list of his opponents above. There isn't much reason why you should, for most of them are doddering old men, according to the standards which the prize ring sets for its children.

Britton has faced Ted Lewis 22 times and is one up on him by virtue of the knockout that Jack scored at Canton, Ohio, in 1919. Only one thing is needed to complete Britton's comeback—to have him do battle with Lewis once more.

THE WISE MAN'S EYES—Then I saw that wisdom excelleth folly, as far as light excelleth darkness.

IGNORANCE ABROAD

You may not have realized it, what with the presidential campaign and all, but the great American male is really desperately unhappy.

An English woman, writing in a London paper and quoted in a recent Literary Digest, sets forth that the American man, in fact, is even "fighting his life." His wife, she admits, has a pretty good time; but American men lag far behind their women. Hear what she says:

"He (the American man) lives in a world separate from theirs. All the excitement and romance of life for him is concentrated in his office. He goes home in the evening, exhausted, to find his wife, fresh as a daisy, starting out for the night. If she insists on his going with her, and she does insist he can only do so after a couple of cocktails or three or four. So that what he sees of the world of women he sees in a daze of weariness and alcohol.

"The tragedy of such American men is that they are never allowed to go to bed. They are the slaves of wives who are utterly bored with their company yet will not dispense with it."

This great weariness of American men at evening undoubtedly explains why the largest American cities, where there are the most business men and where the pace is the most furious, offer the most numerous and varied forms of diversion in the evening. The tired business man, it is well known, is a great patron of the theater; and he seldom is dragged there by his wife, any more than he is dragged to his golf club by her, or to the conventions which he loves so dearly.

As a matter of fact, the only significant thing about the article quoted above is the revelation which it provides about the average English view of us. We are told that America is self-centered and ignorant of the ways of other people; yet no intelligent American ever was quite as misinformed about the English as this lady-writer is misinformed about the Americans. She paints a very pathetic picture, but no American would ever recognize it. It simply is not true.

Think over the people you know. Are the men tired out every evening? Are the women always fresh as a daisy after spending a day caring for a house and three or four children? Are husbands and wives mutually bored to the point of extinction?

Of course not. Like some other foreign commentators on American life, this lady just doesn't know what she's talking about. That great Anglo-American understanding we're all looking for so earnestly will never come until some of England's publicists take the trouble to find out what we're really like.

AUTO THEFT: PETTY LARCENY

Just how common are automobiles anyway?

Well, in New York the other day a man stole one. He was arrested and brought to court—on a charge of petty larceny. The car, a 1921 model was not worth more than $25; consequently its theft could not be counted as a felony.

This is rather startling, when you stop to think about it. An automobile's chief function is to take people from one place to another; and the car the New Yorker stole would do that, for all its wheezing and rattling. It undoubtedly can travel several thousand miles yet. Thirty years ago that car, in its present condition, would have cost thousands of dollars. Today it is small change—ready for the junk heap, despite the fact that it can still render good service.

Better than anything else, that little incident illustrates the amazing cheapness and commonness of the automobile.

The RAMBLER

A POEM FOR TODAY

By NORMAN W. RALSTON
THE TOWN OF SMILES

There's a wonderful place in a wonderful town
Where the people all smile, never frown,
With hardly a care but only to share
Or to trade just a laugh for a crown.

This little town stands aside by a sea—
It was built just especially for me—
And some say it's their, but who gives a care;
This wee, tiny town by the sea.

It's a standard of living the people have set,
And everyone there that I've met
Have always a smile, at least for awhile—
I haven't seen one frown there yet.

Some call it the Town of Smiles, but for me
A more beautiful name it should be—
No frowns there are given, a Suburb of Heaven
I'd call it—between you and me!

Love's Ecstasy

by May Christie

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

ALEDA RAY, pretty country girl, and Gary Chester, young engineer, are in love. Alela, working as a stenographer in New York, is living with Marise de Rense, whose young, sophisticated sister, Goldie, and Clive Mortimer, ne'er-do-well Englishman, are engaged in a blackmailing game. They receive a "commission" to arrange a party for Smithson, wealthy rounder. Alela and Gary return at midnight from a drive into the country. Goldie, jealous of Gary's love for Alela, tricks Alela into attending Smithson's party and then sends a note to Gary asking him to meet Alela there. Alela is shocked by the "goings-on" at the party and is anxious to leave.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

Chapter XXXVI.
CLIVE MORTIMER had delivered two cases of champagne at the roof apartment just before the party. "Cash payment was arranged for. No checks," he said to the negro butler when his goods were dumped in the kitchenette.

"Just wait a moment, sub. I'll call Mr. Briggs."

"Mr. Briggs! Who's Mr. Briggs?" In this transaction Clive had heard of nobody but Mr. Smithson—friend of Goldie—the host.

"Mr. Briggs is my master, sub. This is his apartment." The servant vanished. And presently none other than Smithson—whom Clive had seen once and now immediately recognized—came into the room.

"Ah!" He poked and ferreted among the bottles. "This looks like genuine stuff! What is the price?"

"Five hundred dollars," tartly said Clive.

"Huh! Pretty steep! Aren't you piling it on a bit?"

The Englishman was nettled. Two hundred dollars or nothing—that was the agreed rate. And he wanted cash settlement. No checks. We fixed all that on the phone."

"Of course. Of course." This in a mollifying tone. Smithson flung a furtive look over his back. It was almost as though the latter were afraid that someone else had come with Clive. "Or maybe he's scared of prohibition agents," thought the Englishman.

In a neat packet, held by a hand, Mr. Smithson handed him fifty $10 bills.

Clive counted them, said briefly "That's in order," and turned to depart.

As he did so, he heard the butler say to Smithson: "Mr. Briggs, sub. I've laid covers for eight."

Mr. Briggs again!

The meaning of it flashed on Clive.

"That little runt has rented this apartment on the fly under a fake name, so he can have jolly times up here without his wife finding out!"

The crafty eyes narrowed calculatingly. Here, tumbled into his hand most provisionally, was yet another source of income (he wouldn't give its rightful name of blackmail, for that wasn't pretty). He'd wring "hush money" out of silly little Smithson, squeeze, through this unexpected knowledge, the so-called Briggs to the last cent!

The party was growing gayer and noisier every moment. Over the loaded table, orchid-decked maidens flung provocative glances at the "butter and egg" men.

Only Alela was distraught and silent and afraid.

This hateful termination to her magic evening with the one Gary Chester! She could have wept over the anti-climax.

Goldie was half intoxicated. She had been indulging freely in champagne, and was now giving vent to what she termed "wise cracks."

"If I could only get her home—quick!" thought Alela, her mind full of the understanding with Marise.

Some wine was spilled upon the table. The whole thing was so disastrous to Alela that it even seemed that already the American beauties had a wilted look! They hung their delicate heads as though in shame of what they witnessed. But the human American beauties did not act that way. They became broader and more provocative in their sallies. The heads of two of them reposed brazenly on middle-aged male shoulders.

"Now comes the 'piece de resistance' of the party!" exclaimed Goldie, suddenly jumping up. She signed to the girls to accompany her—Alela followed and they all went out into the bedroom.

"We'll put on these and give the old boys a great thrill!" Goldie fumbled with ungainly fingers at the wrappings of a package she had brought with her.

"These"—to Alela's astonishment and horror—proved to be several sets of pajamas! Goldie tossed her a pair.

"You wouldn't Goldie! Come right home!" Alela caught her arm.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

THINK THIS OVER.
Dear Editor:—
I was in Columbus a few days ago and I met several auto enthusiasts. They were loud in their praises of Circleville—but they all said that tourists complain about hotel accommodations—saying, "Why don't some hotel install bath rooms with at least 20 rooms—let it be known that the price for a room and private bath would be $2.00 single and $3.00 double." Most tourists prefer stopping over night in a small town. But there was one thing complained of, viz: the dusty roads that must be driven over to get to Circleville. "The Circleville Herald" should set up a bowl about the poor roads we are getting for the gas tax we are paying. One of our enterprising citizens is investing $100,000 in a beautiful movie theatre and will supply first-class pictures. There is no reason why this will not draw people for 15 miles around. But oh, the roads. Then look at our merchants. We have fine stores of all kinds. Give us good roads and concrete streets and see what happens.

Yours for Circleville,
BOB WHITE.

MCKENZIE WILL PROBATED
The will of Miss Lydia McKenzie of Pickaway-twp., has been probated. Leo McKenzie was named executor. The estate is estimated to be worth $1,000.

MUST PAY DAMAGES

Charles Kuhn, the 17-year-old son of Pearl Kuhn, was found guilty of malicious destruction of property, in Probate Court Wednesday afternoon.

He was sentenced to the Industrial school at Lancaster, but Judge Adkins suspended the execution of the sentence on probation on condition that he mind his parents, and go to work.

The prisoner broke window panes in the school house on the Josiah Reeves farm near Crownover's mill. He is to pay all the damages amounting to $17.74 and also the costs of the case, $12, and is given up to Nov. 1st to pay the costs in payments.

welcomed to Chillicothe at a dinner at the Warner house by E. L. Spetnagel of the Central National Bank.

Interviews with dirt farmers in Pickaway and Ross counties show they are more interested in county elections than in the presidential race. Pickaway-co normally is about 1200 to 1800 democratic and Ross is Republican by the same margin.

Democratic farmers for the most part have little enthusiasm for Al Smith in Pickaway-co. A democratic legislator said Smith would lose hundreds of votes but most of those talked to thought Herbert Hoover and Smith would get a 50-50 break in Pickaway-co.

Ross-co should be 1000 or 2000 for Hoover with Chillicothe giving Smith a majority which will be turned into a Hoover majority when the rural returns come in. An independent women's movement has been started for Hoover in Chillicothe.

GRAIN REVIEW

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—Wheat held most of its early advance on the board of trade today despite selling pressure from locals and northwestern houses. Corn weakened under favorable weather reports. Oats showed moderate strength.

Late in the day wheat was 3-8 to 3-4 cents higher, corn was down 3-8 cents and oats was up 1-4 to 1-2 cent. Provision were about unchanged.

Wheat opened sharply higher on strong Liverpool cables and reports of frost in Canada where temperatures dropped as low as 28 degrees. The bulge, however, brought selling, and pressure continued through most of the session. Local traders believed that the Canadian frost might impair the quality of wheat but that it would not cut down the yield. Receipts were 101 cars with the cash market unchanged to 1-2 cent higher.

Corn followed wheat for the most part. Locals sold after the opening bulge and prices reacted. Crop reports continue optimistic. Cash corn was 1 cent higher. Arrivals were 58 cars.

Oats showed signs of strength early in the session. Moderate buying was reported. Receipts were 104 cars with the cash market unchanged.

MANY DESCENDANTS ATTEND REUNION

The descendants of Enoch and Sabina Karshner held their second annual reunion at the Storage dam Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 19. These grandparents emigrated from Birk's-co, Pa., in the early thirties and settled in Hocking-co on Little Pine and reared a family of seven children, three boys and four girls, two of whom are living. One was present at the reunion, Mrs. Isaac England, of Scott, O., who is nearing her 80th birthday. The other daughter, Mrs. Samuel Reid of Van Wert, O., was unable to be there.

Mr. and Mrs. England motored through in their machine and will visit with relatives and friends for a week or ten days.

Uncle Isaac was born and reared in Hocking-co and gave a nice talk of how he expected to see hills and valleys and ravines when he went to Paulding-co, but to his surprise found a beautiful level country.

The day was an ideal one, and a sumptuous dinner was spread on a long table under a large tree for about 80 relatives and friends. The afternoon was spent in speeches and election of officers and a general good time. All left hoping to meet next year at the O'Shaughnessy dam, the last Sunday in July.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Isaac England of Scott, O.; Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Louch, Van Wert; Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Gunderman and son, Walter, of Haviland; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Do You Still Remember Them?

The loved ones who are gone and passed by, sleeping in their last resting place. They are still here, how long they are remembered, but you know what a pleasure it is to place the flowers of the flowering plant on their graves.

And it is so easy to do.
